

It Can Wait
Two Futures

White snow falls
Eyes focused
Feel a buzz
Phone beside me
Wide road ahead
No one else in sight
It will be okay.
I think,
It can wait,
But I decide no
One glance, one second ...
Blink
Gone
A shrill ringing
Stopped only by
A child 's cry

(read again starting from the bottom)

One choice makes a difference. One choice defines you. Before you choose, stop and think. Look at the situation from both sides. You know it can wait.

Whether it' s a text, a call, a notification, or song, it will still be there when the car stops. You may not be there, someone else may not - but it will. It can wait, but your life can't.

Everyone has a future until you take it away from them, until you choose for them how their story ends.

Don't be the person who takes away a child's, a mother's, a father's future.

Don't let distracted driving claim yet another life in the thousands of lives already taken.

Don't create the problem. Be a part of the solution.

You're never too busy to save a life - yours or a stranger's.

Choose life. Choose love. Choose a future, not a tragedy.

It can always wait. Don't just take the pledge, take the pledge to heart.