PENNSYLVANIA NEWSMEDIA ASSOCIATION FOUNDATION

The PNA Foundation is proud to present our annual Internship Guide, which lists a variety of internship opportunities at Pennsylvania news organizations. We hope this guide will help you secure a meaningful internship in the Pennsylvania news industry.

The guide is alphabetized by city/town. Each listing details information about the internships available at that news organization, including editorial, advertising, photography and other valuable learning opportunities.

We do our best to keep this information up to date, but some of the information may have changed without our knowledge. You should contact the news organizations that interest you before applying for an internship.

We wish you success in your internship program and your future career endeavors.

Description: The Morning Call is partnering with the Pennsylvania NewsMedia Association to offer a 12-week summer internship for aspiring news reporting and visual journalist candidates. Do you jump when a police scanner broadcasts information from a crime scene? Do you enjoy reporting from a jam-packed school board meeting where 100 angry residents have come to raise an issue? Do you instinctively reach for your smartphone or camera to shoot video and photos when you see news happening and enjoy visual storytelling?
Then you're just the type of person The Morning Call wants for a summer internship.

For more information on internships at The Morning Call, contact editor Crissa DeBree at cdebree@mcall.com.

WITF NEWSROOM INTERNSHIP
The WITF newsroom intern will be a contributing member of the WITF journalism team, including but not limited to: producing newsfeeds and features for radio and online (including reporting in the field with audio and potentially video equipment, taping phone interviews and filing voicers based on breaking news or news releases); producing digital-specific material (for example, Instagram reels) to accompany stories or to serve as a story; and pitching, writing and producing stories for broadcast and the web.

The newsroom intern will work closely with editors and with other members of the news staff and other departments when applicable.

Interns at WITF should be actively enrolled in an accredited college or university and have completed their first year of study. WITF's internship program is a hands-on, education program that is meant to provide students with on-the-job learning opportunities. You will need your own transportation and be located in the Harrisburg, Pennsylvania area for reporting purposes during this internship.

To apply, you are encouraged to submit a cover letter, resume, and writing samples for consideration. The deadline for applying is March 30.

Call for LNP Newsroom Interns - Fall 2024: LNP Media Group, Inc., which publishes LNP in print and LancasterOnline for Lancaster County readers, is seeking intern candidates to work in its newsroom during Fall 2024. Interns are paid $15/hour and work full-time schedules for 12 weeks from Aug. 20 to Nov. 8.

During Fall 2024, two successful candidates will report and write on the news and sports teams. A third intern will expand their photography skills as a member of the Visual Team. The deadline to apply for these positions is March 31, 2024.

To apply, you are encouraged to submit a cover letter, resume and writing or photography samples for consideration. In your letter, you must also indicate which department's internship you are interested in – news, sports or photography.

You will need your own transportation and be located in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, for reporting purposes during this internship. It is not remote. You will be offered free housing and free parking near the newsroom's office as well.

This is a rich experience for journalists getting started on their careers with opportunities to chase breaking news, cover sports, and expand your news photography skills.

Know, too, that you'll be part of a collaborative and supportive team of journalists from day one.

Have questions? Please contact internship coordinator Ted Sickler, Managing Editor for Staff Development and Presentation, at tsickler@lnpnews.com. LNP Media Group, Inc., is a subsidiary of WITF, Inc.

The Post-Gazette offers internship opportunities for eligible college students to work alongside talented journalists and gain experience in a professional news environment. Interns must be willing to work in the Post-Gazette newsroom. Interns will be based in Pittsburgh.

Selected interns will be placed in one of several departments in our newsroom: Local News, Business, Features, Sports, Digital, Photo, and Copy Desk. While most of the intern experience will mimic that of the Post-Gazette's staff, interns also will participate in other activities that will give them the necessary tools to succeed as journalists as well as enjoy getting to know Pittsburgh.

The Post-Gazette provides some paid internships while others receive financial assistance from their schools. A journalism-based monetary award is acceptable, too. Internships run from May through August for no fewer than 10 and no more than 13 weeks.

Eligibility: Must be a student in good standing at a college or university. Must have previous journalism experience (previous internship experience is preferred). A valid driver's license with a clean driving record is required.
Instructions to apply: Fill out an application form. Please direct questions to Linda Parker (lparker@post-gazette.com).
Deadline: January 12

Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh City Paper
Pghcitypaper.com

Pittsburgh City Paper hires interns for three terms each year: Spring (January-April), Summer (May-August), and Fall (September-December). Interns must be students currently enrolled in Pittsburgh-area colleges or universities. City Paper's internship program offers real-world experience with professional training

NEWS REPORTING INTERN
News reporting interns pitch and write stories for both print and online, with a strong focus on news and community outreach reporting. Basic writing and reporting experience is required, and previous work in student media is recommended. Interns should be able to turn stories around quickly and are encouraged to pitch ideas often. This internship pays $12/hour for 10 hours a week. Please send résumé, cover letter, and writing samples to Editor-in-Chief, Ali Trachta at ali@pghcitypaper.com.

A&E WRITING INTERN
A&E interns will pitch and write arts & entertainment stories for both print and online, with a strong focus on visual arts, theater, and music reporting. Basic writing and reporting experience is required. Previous work in student media, such as college newspapers or magazines, is recommended.This internship pays $12/hour for 10 hours a week. Please send résumé, cover letter, and writing samples to A&E Editor Amanda Waltz at awaltz@pghcitypaper.com.

PHOTO INTERN
Photo interns should be student photojournalists with an artistic eye who can tell a story through images. Editorial work will include photographing news and arts, both for print and online. Weekend availability is required. Prior student newspaper work and an outgoing personality are a plus. This internship pays $12/hour for 10 hours a week. Send a résumé and a link to an online portfolio to Lucy Chen, Art Director at lucychen@pghcitypaper.com.

FALL MARKETING INTERN
The fall marketing intern will report to the Advertising Director and will last from Sept. 1-Nov. 26. The role will provide experience in marketing and advertising in the events and media industry. The two major projects this intern position will assist through completion during the Fall duration is the 2022 Best of Pittsburgh celebration and Pittsburgh City Paper's 2023 Media Kit. Responsibilities will include: Planning and setting up the City Paper booth at planned Fall events, assisting in coordination and administrative needs for the 2022 Best of Pittsburgh event, and collecting and organizing marketing data for the 2023 Media Kit. Requirements: Excellent verbal and written communication skills, knowledge of MS Office and/or Google Suite Office, and passion for the marketing industry and desire for real-time experience.
